Is this the future we want
for Americans with disabilities?

The Board of Directors of Access Ready has deemed inaccessible information technology to be a clear, growing and present danger to the civic, economic and social welfare of people with disabilities.

We would welcome your support.

What is an Access Ready Environment?

In short, an Access Ready Environment is where accessibility is a forethought and not an Afterthought.

What is an Access Ready Environment?

In detail, an Access Ready Environment is where access for people with disabilities at the physical and technological levels is a matter of forethought, design, inclusion and planning instead of a condition of afterthought, delay and discrimination resulting in risk to all concerned.

The clock is running and it's running fast.

Buildings are built accessible,
why not information technology?

Access Ready Inc. is a non-profit cross disability education and advocacy organization promoting a policy of inclusion and accessibility across information technology through education and best practices.

It's about saving money.
It's about the cost of the future.
It's about policy not legal action!

Accessibility is not only the absence of barriers, but must be bolstered by the presence of inclusion. The acceptance of exclusion anywhere is a threat to inclusion everywhere.

Inclusion Can't Wait!
