

Alpha UMi Inc is a curriculum development company located in the Tampa Bay area of Florida. We specialize in soft skills, professional development skills, and leadership skills development.

We offer custom curriculum development using instructional design methodologies to ensure the clients' needs are addressed within the training materials.

We have both facilitated and fully self-paced online programs. Our programs have been certified by the national Council of Continuing Education and Training.

We can work with your trainers, or you can leverage ours. We do offer a train-the trainer program.

We believe that Simon Sinek had it right in his "Start With Why" when he said that people want to know why things are important. This leads to better engagement. So we always start our workshops with a discussion on why the particular topic is important.

We use engagement exercises and discussions to create a transformative learning environment. Learning occurs best by engaging rather than being lectured to. So we strive to be 'guides by the side' and not a 'sage on the stage.'

We continue to explore ways to engage individuals with visual and hearing challenges to make our workshop experiences transformative for all who take it.
