

Mission/Vision

The most effective organizations are inclusive organizations.

Inclusivity is dedicated to helping public and private sector organizations and industry groups navigate the rapidly changing landscape of disability and civil rights with strategic consulting services.

Inclusivity offers solutions that advance the civil rights of workers, customers, and students with disabilities and helps organizations become more effective, inclusive, and diverse. Our advice enhances opportunities for businesses, government agencies, individuals, and communities.

In recent years, the disability law and policy landscape has undergone sweeping change. Court rulings and federal policies related to the civil rights of workers, customers, and students with disabilities have major implications for business, educational institutions, employment agencies, school-transition programs, justice systems, service providers, and employers.

Inclusivity is committed to helping organizations navigate this new landscape with practical and accurate analysis and guidance.

We're on a mission: to help organizations become more effective and inclusive by promoting the education, engagement, and employment of people with disabilities.

We offer

- Practical and Legal Analysis and Guidance
- Policy and Procedure Development
- Education and Training
- Strategic Diversity Assessment

Eve Hill, principal of Inclusivity, is one of the nation's leading disability civil rights attorneys. She previously served as Deputy Assistant Attorney General of the U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, where she was responsible for oversight of the Division's disability rights enforcement and educational civil rights implementation.
